A GRANT-WRITING WORKSHOP SERIES FOR SOCIAL SCIENCE
GRADUATE STUDENTS & POSTDOCTORAL SCHOLARS

PART 1: INTRODUCTION TO GRANT-WRITING

Tuesday, May 3rd, 10:00-11:30am
166 Young Hall

DESCRIPTION: This workshop will offer an introductory and broad overview of different grant mechanisms, the availability and appropriateness of funding opportunities and resources, the structure of the scientific review process, and the types of projects that ultimately get funded. Light refreshments will be provided.

Please Register HERE!

Workshop Instructor: Dr. Belinda Martineau is the Grant Writer with the Institute for Social Sciences (ISS) at UC Davis. She assists Division of Social Sciences faculty with developing and writing proposals to a wide range of funding agencies and organizations for grants and contracts that support the work of the Institute. Belinda’s career has taken her from bench science to writing books and magazine articles to editing grants and scientific papers as Principal Editor at the UC Davis Genome Center. She earned her B.A. in Biology from Harvard University and her Ph.D. in Genetics from UC Berkeley.

Workshop Organizer: Lauren Berger is a PhD Candidate in the Psychology Department, the Associate Director of the Asian American Center on Disparities Research (AACDR), and a fellow in the Professors for the Future Program. Please contact Lauren (lkberger@ucdavis.edu) with questions or requests for additional information regarding the Grant-Writing Workshop Series for Social Science Graduate Students and Postdoctoral Scholars.
